Department of Recreation & Athletics

Athletic Awards Banquet
Thursday, April 7, 1994

Office of the Rector and Vice-Chancellor

Over the 1993-94 year, our athletes have provided us with many enjoyable moments and have achieved many successes in doing so. That all of our teams advanced to league playoffs and dozens of our athletes were named to league all-star teams are indicators of the quality of our coaches and athletes and of the programmes and services provided by our Department of Recreation and Athletics.

Varsity and intramural sports foster self-discipline, teamwork and fitness and help develop our mental and physical faculties. As such, they complement academic life at the University and promote the development of skills which are of great value in our studies and in our lives outside of those studies. Those whom we honour this evening have excelled in this aspect of University life.

On my behalf and that of the Concordia community, students, staff, faculty, alumni, friends and supporters alike, I would like to offer my congratulations to all of tonight's award winners and to all of those who contributed to the success of our teams this past year. Enjoy this evening's laurels, as you have worked hard and competed well to earn them. We are all proud of you and you should be proud of yourselves.

A BANNER YEAR FOR CONCORDIA ATHLETICS

Concordia's Department of Recreation and Athletics enjoyed a banner year, giving faculty, staff, students and alumni plenty to cheer about.

The football team, picked by many to finish no better than fifth in their conference, beat the Bishop's Gaiters 10-7 to win their second Dunsmore Cup as champions of the Ontario-Quebec Interuniversity Football Conference. It was the first time since 1982 that the Stingers had won the Cup. They advanced to the Churchill Bowl, the National semi-final, before losing to the eventual Vanier Cup champions, the University of Toronto Varsity Blues.

Two members of that team enjoyed great seasons. Luc Pelland, who led the team in tackles, was chosen as an O-QIFC all-star and a Second Team All-Canadian at inside linebacker. Paul Chesser, a fifth-year defensive end, finished his career by being named as an O-QIFC all-star, a First Team All-Canadian, and won the J.P. Metras Trophy, awarded to the country's outstanding lineman. Paul became the first Stinger football player to ever win a major award. Fred Marquette (offensive guard), Marc Fortier (safety), and Mike Noble (inside receiver) were also named to the O-QIFC all-star team.

Concordia's women's rugby team once again proved they are the dominant force in the Quebec University Rugby League, going undefeated in the regular season and winning their second straight QURL league title.

The team, which has not lost a regular season match in three years, also dominated the QURL all-star team with seven players being chosen. Natascha Wesch, Laura Morrison, Sheila Turner, Lara Falquero, Cristal Monad, Ivanka Cankovic, and Jenn Purves were named to the dream team.

The men's rugby team experienced some growing pains this season, but were still good enough to qualify for the playoffs in the QURL's men's division. The team brought together a solid nucleus of players this season and they should be a much improved team next year. Tony Clark was named to the 11-player QURL all-star team.

The men's soccer team almost duplicated their upset of last season when they shocked the Université de Sherbrooke and the McGill Redmen to advance to the Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union (CIAU) National Championships. This season, the Stingers knocked off undefeated McGill in the league semi-finals before bowing out to the eventual National Champs Sherbrooke in the QSSF finals.

Four members of that team were named to the QSSF's all-star team. Chris Rose and Glen Campbell were both named to the First Team while Mario Lombardi - the hero in the McGill upset - and Robbie Gasparini made the Second Team.

Concordia's women's soccer team had another strong showing under second year head coach Annie Caron, a former three-time All-Canadian with the Stingers. Concordia went 5-3 in the regular season before bowing out to the McGill Martlets in the playoffs. Two members from the Stingers distinguished themselves this past season.

Isabelle Marquis, a mid-fielder with this year's squad was named as a QSSF First Team all-star. Sandra Tuppert, a second-year forward with Concordia, had an outstanding season as she led the league in goals. Her efforts earned her a QSSF First Team all-star, the league's Most Valuable Player, and a CIAU First Team All-Canadian.

As fall turned to winter, Concordia's varsity teams did not stop excelling.

The men's hockey team had their finest season to date under fourth-year head coach Yves Beaucage. Concordia finished third in what could arguably be called the toughest division in CIAU hockey with 31 points. Only four teams finished with better records than the Stingers, and two of them were in their division. Concordia made the playoffs by knocking off the McGill Redmen in the final game of the season but were eliminated by a tough UQTR Patriotes team in the first round.

Defenseman Derek Potts, in his fourth and final year, capped off his career by being selected as an OUAA East First Team all-star. Potts is the first Stinger since goaltender Bobby Desjardins in 1991 to make the First Team.

Our women's hockey team also had a great season. After starting off the season at 3-1, they rolled off 33 straight games without a loss, going 29-0-4 in that stretch. Included in that streak, they won the Hockey East Tournament in Providence, Rhode Island, and captured their second straight Theresa Humes Invitational. They capped off their season with their fifth league title in the last six years.

Several members of the team achieved personal goals as well. Forward Martine Bérubé and defenseman Lisa Devison were named as Quebec Women's University Hockey League First Team all-stars, while goaltender Marie Claude Roy, defenseman Elaine Bedard, and forward Karyn Bye were named to the QWUHL's Second Team.

Laura Leslie, who will graduate as Concordia's all-time leading scorer, was selected to the Canadian National team which will compete at the World Championships in Lake Placid from April 11-17. Bye and centre Cammi Granato, who joined the team after Christmas, will compete for the U.S. National team. Forwards Anne Rodrigue and Leslie, and Roy participated on the Quebec Provincial team at the Canadian Nationals along with assistant coach Julie Healy and head coach Les Lawton who will be the coach of the National team at the World Championships.

The women's volleyball team had a good season as well. Playing in a division that had three teams ranked in the CIAU Top Ten, the team proved to be competitive despite facing some formidable foes. They had a great season outside of their league with strong showings at the McMaster, Queen's, Winnipeg and Ottawa tournaments.

Cassandra Bardo, Concordia's Female Athlete of the Year last season, was named to the QSSF all-star team for the second consecutive year.

Our women's basketball team turned the corner this season, as head coach Mike Hickey guided the Stingers to their first league title in nine years.

The Stingers finished third in their league this season, but then caught fire. They downed the Université Laval in the QSSF semi-final before beating the nationally-ranked McGill Martlets in the championship. At the CIAU Nationals in Calgary, the team battled the eventual champs, the Winnipeg Wesmen hard for two-thirds of the game before losing. Undaunted, the Stingers went on to win the consolation final with a 58-50 victory over the UNB Red Bloomers.

Fourth-year guard Sharon Sandy and second-year forward Patricia Demers were named as QSSF First Team all-stars while Eva Samoré, a first-year forward, was the conference's Rookie of the Year. Coach Hickey was named the QSSF Coach of the Year for his great job.

Winning has become the key distinction of Concordia's men's basketball team. For four straight years under head coach John Dore, the team had won it's conference title and gone on to the CIAU Nationals. This season was no exception.

The Stingers cruised through their second straight undefeated regular season before beating the McGill Redmen in the league final for their sixth consecutive title. The Stingers, one of the youngest teams in the CIAU Nationals, finished sixth and demonstrated that they will be force to reckon with for years to come.

All five starters on Coach Dore's squad made the QSSF First or Second Team all-star list. Forwards Emerson Thomas, a fourth-year Leisure Studies major, rookie Maxime Bouchard, and fifth-year senior guard Robert Ferguson were chosen as First Team all-stars, while forward Gaetan Prosper and centre Fred Arsenault made the Second Team. In addition, Bouchard was named the QSSF Rookie of the Year, Ferguson the league's Player of the Year, and Coach Dore the Coach of the Year.

Ferguson capped an excellent five year career as he was named to the All-Canadian team. Thomas was named an Honourable Mention All-Canadian for the second season in a row.

Concordia's Wrestling team completed another successful season in a long line of great seasons. They finished tenth this year at the CIAU Nationals at Brock University, placing three wrestlers in the Top Five in their respective weight categories. Anthony Corelli was fifth in the 76 kilogram category, Jason Della Rocca was third in the 82-kg class, and Barry Poplaw was fifth at 90 kilograms. Coach Victor Zilberman has proven again that he runs one of the best wrestling programmes in the country.

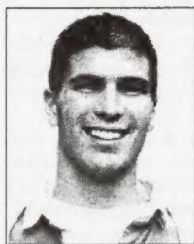

Our Track and Field team, which just got started last season, made considerable strides this year under new coach Suzan Ballmer. She has taken a young team and produced some top quality athletes. Although the team did not send any athletes to the Provincials this season, they are on the threshold of great things for many years to come.

Our student-athletes not only performed well on the fields, courts, and ice but in the classroom as well. This year, 10 Stingers were chosen as Academic All-Canadians. Luc Pelland of the football team, Mike Pohorly of the men's hockey team, and Nicolas Colombant of the men's soccer team were repeat winners this season. Joining them were Patrick Laviolette (men's soccer), Anne Jenkins, Chantal Golding, Isabelle Marquis, and Sarah Brown (women's soccer), Skip Langton (men's hockey), and Peter Pozar (football).

Congratulations to all of our student-athletes on their terrific athletic and academic accomplishments.
